An Evening of Growth and Celebration!

ASA-MN and MARSS Unite for the Benefit of Subcontractors

Join us as ASA and MARSS members celebrate the unification of their Associations. We share nearly identical objectives and even use the same lobbyist. The combined resources of the two groups will increase ability to work on legislative and regulatory issues; it will also improve financial standing and ability to attract members. It is the goal of the groups to increase visibility as the primary voice of subcontractors on issues such as payment, retainage and fairness in construction documents.

Charles Durenberger, commonly goes by the name Charlie. This is a good depiction of a very approachable professional who serves as Manager, CCLD Enforcement Services Unit in the Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry. His approachable demeanor should not be misjudged, Charlie has the authority and power to enforce regulation and terminate contractor licenses in Minnesota. ASA will be working with Charlie as we seek to utilize and strengthen Minnesota law.

Residential and commercial and subcontractors can't miss this opportunity to understand this resource and to build our team. Together, we can make a difference.
